What will be different at CRI in our future

We believe change begins with our staff representing a diverse group of stakeholders who have sacrificed for the success of our organization and/or who fuel the success of CRI. It also includes:

- More diverse representation from a wide range of people and backgrounds at all levels of our leadership and management
- We won’t accept the excuse that “we can’t find people who…” in rowing to be part of our conversation.
- If we think the experience of diverse people matters at CRI then we will also measure, share and work to understand our impact on the choices we’ve made. We set goals in rowing all the time—we need to make sure that our goals reflect our commitment to inclusion in the boathouse as well.
